CANADA'S FOOTHILL PROVINCE

Just over 40 years ago 255,285 square miles were set apart as the province of Alberta, Except for 59,000 square miles covered with dense stands of forest, the farm and prairie land of Alberta produces 300 million bushels of spring wheat and livestock to make it Canada's higgest meat-packing province. Its resources of coal and natural gas are almost beyond calculation. It produces 99 per cent of Canada's oil and its hituminous sands are the greatest known oil reserve on the face of the earth.

It is the energy, enterprise, and intelligence that farmers, oil men and industrialists apply to the great natural resources of Alherta that assure the great future of the province. Alberta, and the great country of which it forms a part, is a land where bright new horizons offer a future unmatched in the world.
